and the Great Earthquake of 1886, which caused significant damage to the church. After Reverend Drayton died in 1891, St. Andrew's lay dormant for the next fifty-seven years.

In 1948 Episcopalians moving to the West Ashley suburbs reopened the dilapidated church, even though it was far away from new residential developments. Dogged perseverance brought slow but continual improvements. A parish house was built, then expanded twice in quick succession. Hurricane Hugo (1989) caused major damage to the graveyard. Into the twenty-first century, the church undertook the most extensive restoration in its history and celebrated its tercentennial. In 2013, after undergoing a deliberate process of discernment, Old St. Andrew's aligned with the Diocese of South Carolina and left The Episcopal Church. The Diocese and Old St. Andrew's subsequently affiliated with the Anglican Church in North America.

For more than 300 years, St. Andrew's Parish Church has survived, indeed has thrived, against all odds.

ABOUT GIVING

Our Vision

To 'Love God. Love People. Build Community.'

Our Mission

We are committed to our Mission of, 'Proclaiming the Grace of God in Jesus Christ.'

Our Strategy

To be the Body of Christ through multiple offerings of worship and missions committed to being and making disciples of Jesus Christ by the power of His Holy Spirit. Multi-Generational. Multi-Directional.

Our Statement of Faith

Adopted by The Vestry of Saint James on April 19, 2016

Saint James Church a parish in the Diocese of South Carolina is an Anglican congregation in the state of South Carolina. Our Vision is to "Love God. Love People. Build Community." We are committed to our Mission, "Proclaiming the Grace of God in Jesus Christ."

ABOUT GIVING

man and a woman. Because God has ordained marriage and defined it as His covenant relationship between a man and a woman, the Parish (like the Diocese) will only recognize and solemnize a marriage that is between a man and a woman. Further, the clergy and staff of the Parish (like the Diocese) shall only serve in weddings and solemnize marriages between one man and one woman. The facilities and property of the Parish (like the Diocese) shall only host weddings between one man and one woman.

We believe that God offers redemption and restoration to all who confess and forsake their sin, seeking His mercy and forgiveness through Jesus Christ. (Acts 3:19-21; Romans 10:9-10; 1 Corinthians 6:9-11).

We believe that every person must be afforded compassion, love, kindness, respect, and dignity. (Mark 12:28-31; Luke 6:31.) Hateful and harassing behavior or attitudes directed toward any individual are to be repudiated and are not in accord with Scripture nor the doctrines of the Diocese.

Finally

This statement of faith does not exhaust the extent of our beliefs. The Bible is the trustworthy Word of God that speaks with final authority concerning truth, morality, and the proper conduct of humankind. For purposes of the Parish's and the Diocese of South Carolina's faith, doctrine, practice, policy, and discipline, our Bishop is the final interpretive authority on matters of doctrine and their application.

History

St. Jude's Church has deep roots in Colleton County that go back to the founding of St. Bartholomew's Parish by the Colonial Assembly in 1706. The first chapel in the Parish (Pon Pon Chapel, Jacksonboro) was established in 1725 and then a second chapel (Edmundsbury) was established in 1745. In 1822, a third chapel was established in Walterboro to provide a place for worship during summer months and then in 1832 the worship services at Pon Pon were transferred to Walterboro. As the Walterboro community grew the lot that St. Jude's stands on today was purchased in 1850 and a large gothic church was built under the direction of architect Edward B. White. St. Jude's Church was consecrated in 1852 and became an independent parish in 1855.

A tornado destroyed St. Jude's along with three other churches in Walterboro in 1879. Through the generous help of many people and their contributions, the present St. Jude's sanctuary was built and then consecrated by Bishop Howe in 1882. St. Jude's was especially blessed with the leadership of two rectors, The Rev. Edmund Bellinger (1857-1897) and The Rev. Alvin Skardon (1925-1952) who served a combined 77 years in ministry. In 1996, a major expansion to the parish hall was completed. The original wing of the structure was named Bellinger Hall and the new addition named Skardon Hall to honor the two beloved rectors for their years of dedicated service and also their families who continued to love and serve the church through the years. In 2008, the pipe and digital Wicks organ was installed with the pipes framing the Diocese of South Carolina seal.

Today, St. Jude's Church, along with 38 others churches, is a member of the Diocese of South Carolina and Anglican Church in North America (ACNA).

2. Bishop: A bishop is a clergy person, so ordained through a succession of bishops, all the way back to the Apostles, through the laying on of hands. The bishop works with all the priests within his diocese. The Bishop of the Diocese of South Carolina is The Rt. Reverend Mark Lawrence.

History

Anglicanism originated during the English Reformation, but its roots can be traced back to the early Church. Because of our unique history, Anglicans are a blend of several great traditions of Christianity. Anglicans are Reformed, Catholic, and Evangelical. At its best, Anglicanism can hold these three streams in a healthy, beautiful tension.
